

CLASS 700 A HISTORY OF HUMANS AND NATURE

Environmental Classics

- Does true human flourishing require the consumption of natural resources?
- Are we justified in controlling and dominating our living environment?
- Should our sense of community extend to the land in which we live?
- What happens if we envisage our natural environment as an independent moral agent?

From the early conquests of nature in the Epic of Gilgamesh to Graeco-Roman perspectives, including Hesiod, Plato, Aristotle, Virgil, Pliny, and St. Augustine:

Join us in tracing the history of environmental thought to answer these timeless yet urgent questions.

TuTh 11:05AM - 12:20PM
Dr. Christina Hoenig
cmh159@pitt.edu